Exploring

Praying Hands

- Trace each child's hands on construction paper.
- Cut out each of the children's hands, making sure to leave an extra length of paper at the wrists.
- Have the children place a drop of glue on the fingertips of their cut-out hands, pressing the fingertips together to connect the hands.
- Help the children glue the hands onto the underside of a paper plate, mounting the hands at the wrists in praying position.
- With a marker write the message, "Today we thank God for..." around the edge of each plate.
- Send these centerpieces home with the children as a reminder for families to pray together in thanksgiving.
